Dear Parent/Carer

Year 6

All the staff, but particularly the Year 6 team would like to take the opportunity to commend the Year 6 students on their admirable approach to their SATs this week. Under extreme and repeated pressure, they showed resilience, stamina and determination. We are all so very proud of their efforts.

Every child in the year group has committed to learning, and each and every one of them has made good or better progress this year. Please take the time to celebrate and commend their effort and attitude this week. The results, as we have been telling the students, have importance for the school, but in the big wide world, nobody is ever going to ask them what they got in their SATs. This weekend, take the opportunity to praise their commitment, this is a life skill that has some importance and will be a lifelong necessity for them to succeed.

I would also like to express my thanks to you as parents, for the commitment and support you have given your child. Please be reassured that while the pressure pedal will lift from their lives, we remain committed to seeing their progress continue over this term and into Year 7.

We do hope you all have an enjoyable weekend!

Yours sincerely
